HST Info Session at 50+ Centre Do You Still Have Questions?

Cambridge, Ontario. August 17, 2010... Bob Delaney, Parliamentary Assistant to the Minister of Revenue, will deliver an information session on Harmonized Sales Tax (HST) on Wednesday August 25th at the W.G. Johnson Centre/Ted Wake Lounge, 31 Kribs Street.

The free seminar will begin at 2:45 pm in the gymnasium and runs until 4:00 pm. There's no need to RSVP as there is plenty of room in the gym which seats 236 people.

Delaney is co-author of the book High Value IT Consulting, taught in the School of Business Studies in Continuing Education at Ryerson University in Toronto, and is also currently the Member of Provincial Parliament for Mississauga-Streetsville.

The information session is part of an ongoing series of events and programs brought to you by the City of Cambridge at your local community centre and 50+ centre. For more information visit the facilities page http://www.cambridge.ca/community_services/recreation_facilities or check out our online events calendar. Cambridge is a wonderful hub of activities with three unique neighbourhoods coming together to create the diversity of opportunities. The corporation developed the greenest city hall in the country and is leading policy development around green practices.

The W.G. Johnson pool is currently closed for renovations as part of $1.2 million upgrade to the facility under the federal, provincial and municipal stimulus partnership. The facility will see the implementation of green technologies including geothermal systems and is slated to reopen in September. Other services at the facility continue to operate as usual.
