Who are they? With all the television, video games and internet surfing, it seems the phrase "dying art" has reached an unfortunate fruition. As full-time employment, the duo of Valeria Patirani- LeConte, an educator of the arts, and Joanne Rice, who contributes to cartoon TV programming will be a performance to remember. They have been working together for over 29 years and are big fans of street performances. Valeria Patirani- LeConte graduated from the University of Waterloo with a Fine Arts honours degree and went on to specialize in Art Therapy. She enjoys working with adolescents and has been educating them in art techniques for the past four years. She is also an artist who often works with photography and paints, and has a love of illustrations and pen & ink drawings. Joanne Rice is a graduate of the Sheridan College Animation program, and she has worked in Asia and Canada on several TV programs including: Franklin, Little Bear, Magic School Bus and Timothy Goes to School. She has also worked with Disney on Christmas Belle, Winnie the Pooh Valentine and Pocahontas 2. Moving with the times, she is now working on a new computer animation TV series in Toronto and paints amazing murals with The Creative Environment Group.
