Cambridge Expands Online Services New Payment Options for Accounts Receivable

Cambridge, Ontario. September 19, 2011... E-commerce, the electronic financial process that utilizes tools such as internet, is a big deal for a growing segment of the community. Whether you are a resident or a business working with the City of Cambridge, the thrust behind the latest enhancements introduced is to provide you with new choices.

"We know that our citizens, contractors and other partners want to have flexible options for addressing invoice payments. The new online services provide people with another choice that is available 24 hours, seven days a week, save regularly scheduled maintenance periods of course," says Jonathan Lautenbach, the City's Director of Financial Services.

The new payment options for accounts receivable invoices cover such services as sanitary, sewer blockage, vendor fees for the Cambridge Farmers' Market, Building Revitalization Program (BRP) loan repayments, cemetery charges, and winter sidewalk clearing, to list just a few. These online services will not replace the existing options of payment which currently include by mail, in person or by nightly drop box at the Cambridge City Hall, 50 Dickson Street.

The new accounts receivable invoice payments section is located at: http://www.cambridge.ca/corporate_services/technology_services/online_services_available or click the online services icon on the landing page to see the variety of selections.

While this new online payment option excludes property tax and water accounts, payment on these accounts can be made through most chartered banks or financial institutions' online banking.
