Thanks to Cambridge Community for Winter Clothing Donations Babcock & Wilcox Canada Leadership Commended

Cambridge, Ontario. December 22, 2011... The winter clothing drive was an overwhelming success thanks to the generosity of the Cambridge community. The program, which kicked off December 1st, wrapped up today in time to deliver items for the holidays. It was a partnership approach undertaken by the City of Cambridge and Babcock and Wilcox Canada to collect donations under the reuse/recycling theme to benefit a local Shelter and the Salvation Army.

"There were hundreds of items collected that will offer a little extra warmth to those in need in the local community," says Cambridge Mayor Doug Craig. "We are grateful for the donations and extend our thanks to the residents who took the time to come to one of the four City drop-off locations and share items."

Babcock and Wilcox Canada President, Mike Lees, said that his environmental committee felt this was a green way of giving back and noted employees embraced the opportunity to participate. The leading organization has been part of the Cambridge community since the mid-1800s and is a subsidiary of Babcock & Wilcox Power Generation Group, Inc., North America's largest manufacturer of steam generation products and services.
